Place Player shortcode on wordpress page / post

Shortcode will look like [html5mp3 id=ID]

Sample player post ...

The screenshot displays a WordPress post titled '[html5mp3 id=1]'. The post is by 'admin' and dated 'May 15, 2013', with '0 Comments'. The main content is an HTML5 MP3 player. The player has a dark theme and features a track list. The current track is '04 Come Together' by 'Sandeep', with a play button, a progress bar showing '00:00 | 04:41', and a volume icon. Below the player are social media sharing icons for Twitter, Facebook, and others. The track list includes: '04 Come Together', '10 Sun King', '11 Day Tripper', and '12 Polythene Pam'. At the bottom of the player, it says 'HTML5 MP3 Player'.
